License and degree programs in the Department of Education Studies prepare professionals to work in education. For teaching in elementary grade levels (K–5), the undergraduate major in educational foundations leads to a bachelor of arts (BA) or bachelor of science (BS) degree in educational foundations. Undergraduates may also earn a certificate in education foundations—secondary. For teaching in secondary grade levels (6–12), the certificate in educational foundations—secondary is intended to complement the subject area major.

The master’s-level programs include

1. a degree in curriculum and teaching with a specialization in elementary multiple subjects education or secondary education, which includes a recommendation for a state-approved teaching license and a master of education (MEd) degree
2. a program in curriculum and teacher education for those already holding a teaching license and are seeking a master of science (MS) degree
3. add-on endorsements for licensed teachers in English for speakers of other languages and multicultural, multilingual reading

The doctoral degree program leads to a doctor of philosophy degree (PhD) in critical and sociocultural studies in education.

Undergraduate Studies

Educational Foundations

The purpose of the educational foundations major is to prepare future professionals in education and related fields: critical thinkers, well-informed about theory and practice, who possess the knowledge and skills to be agents of change in economically, racially, culturally, and linguistically diverse communities. The program focuses on content preparation and provides students with a sophisticated understanding of the intersections of multiple disciplines within larger historical and contemporary themes.

The two-year program, completed during the junior and senior years, prepares undergraduate students for admission into master’s-level teacher certification programs or other Graduate School programs such as social work or psychology. The educational foundations major does not result in a teaching license.

Major Requirements

Students planning to major in educational foundations enter the university as education premajors. Transfer students and university students from other majors may become premajors by submitting a Request for Addition or Deletion Major form, available online. Premajors are not eligible to take most 300- and 400-level education courses. Premajor status does not guarantee admission to the educational foundations major.

The major is designed as a two-year program completed during the undergraduate junior and senior year. The major requires core courses in five areas: learning, teaching, and assessment; curriculum theory; technology and education; literacy; and equality of opportunity. Additional courses are required in mathematics, science, and a variety of other subjects, including reading, art, music, and physical education.

Application and Admission
Students must submit a formal application for admission to the major. Application to the major is made before beginning the junior year of study and may be made only during winter term of each academic year. Seniors who transfer from another university or change their major may be admitted but are not guaranteed graduation within one year. Application materials and directions are available on the College of Education website.

Certificate in Educational Foundations—Secondary
UO undergraduates who are preparing for careers as middle or high school teachers major in the subject area they will teach. The certificate in educational foundations—secondary is designed to complement the subject area preparation of undergraduates planning to be middle or high school teachers. The certificate gives future secondary teachers an advantage by giving them the opportunity to develop the knowledge and skills necessary for teaching in the classroom before they enroll in Graduate School. This preprofessional certificate prepares highly competitive students for admission into graduate teacher education programs or other graduate programs in Oregon and around the country.

Four-Year Degree Plan
The degree plan shown is only a sample of how students may complete their degrees in four years. There are alternative ways. Students should consult their advisor to determine the best path for them.

Master of Education in Curriculum and Teaching

Students pursuing a master of education degree (MEd) are admitted to the curriculum and teaching major through the K–12 licensure program, UO Teach, which emphasizes the sociocultural context of teaching and learning, culturally sustaining pedagogy, and supportive learning communities. Completion of the program leads to a teaching license and a master of education degree (MEd) in curriculum and teaching.

The UO Teach program offers general-education specializations in elementary multiple subjects and middle-high school education in the following content endorsement areas:

1. English language arts
2. Social science
3. Science education (biology, chemistry, physics, or integrated general science)
4. Mathematics (advanced and foundational)
5. World languages (French, German, Japanese, Mandarin Chinese, and Spanish)

To ensure all graduates are trained to teach culturally and linguistically diverse youth, both specializations include embedded preparation for the English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) endorsement.

UO Teach is a four-term, full-time program, though students may be accepted for a two-year, part-time program. The graduate program begins in June, preparing students for 34 weeks of progressive field experience in local schools, starting in the fall. It is a cohort-based program (students are taught as a community rather than as individuals) in which students explore approaches to teaching and learning that advance equity and access, value individual student’s strengths, facilitate critical thinking, and reflect culturally responsive methods and practices that serve all learners. Study plans are based on endorsement area sequential courses.

Upon successful completion of related course work, field placement, and licensure requirements, candidates are eligible to apply for a Teacher Standards and Practices Commission Oregon teaching license. The preliminary teaching licenses and subsequent renewals and out-of-state transfers require a College of Education recommendation.

More information on the program is available at the website (https://education.uoregon.edu/uoteach/).

Application and Admission

The program is competitive, with limited enrollment. Admission criteria include a bachelor’s degree with required content preparation, a 3.00 grade point average (GPA), demonstrated working experience with school-age youth, passing subject-area test scores for Oregon Educator Licensure Assessments (ORELA), a commitment to working with diverse populations, and strong communication skills. See the website for application details.

This program is designed for those who already hold a teaching license but want to build on their knowledge by adding a master’s degree. Study plans are individualized based on an applicant’s educational pursuits. The program accepts applicants on an annual basis. English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) Endorsement

English learners and emerging bilinguals face linguistic and cultural barriers when acquiring context knowledge in a mainstream classroom. The add-on endorsements in ESOL and ESOL–bilingual education prepare educators to serve students who enter the public school system with a native language other than English. In addition, this endorsement equips teachers with an awareness of the challenges students face in developing English language proficiency and content simultaneously, and how effective use of culturally relevant materials and teaching strategies can help to counteract this challenge.

Licensed teachers who complete the ESOL program demonstrate the following:

- proficiency in planning, delivery, and assessment of English language development instruction
- knowledge of effective inclusive language development program models
- ability to serve as a resource to classroom teachers to ensure a student's successful transition from an English language development program to mainstream classrooms
- ability to serve as an advocate for emerging bilinguals who supports equity and access in educational settings

The program for the ESOL endorsement requires satisfactory completion of 19 credits, including four courses and a practicum. This endorsement allows licensed teachers to become ESOL specialists.

Students who have completed an ESOL endorsement and are proficient in another language may add the bilingual endorsement by passing the appropriate Oregon Educator Licensure Assessments–National Evaluation Series language test. No course work is necessary for the bilingual endorsement.

Application and Admissions
Applicants must hold a teaching license. Students are admitted on a rolling basis but typically begin the program in summer or fall. For application information and deadlines, visit the website (https://education.uoregon.edu/program/reading-endorsement/).

Licensure
Licensure programs of the Department of Education Studies meet the requirements for the Oregon Teacher Standards and Practices Commission for a preliminary teacher license in elementary multiple subjects and middle or high school education content areas. Endorsements are available in ESOL and ESOL-bilingual specialization and reading.

Doctor of Philosophy in Critical and Sociocultural Studies in Education

The University of Oregon doctor of philosophy degree (PhD) in critical and sociocultural studies in education is designed to prepare scholars who intend to be active in the professional research association in their field, publish research in peer-reviewed journals and academic presses, secure positions as faculty members at research universities or research centers, or work at state and federal agencies.

The program provides a comprehensive approach to educational research that considers the consequences of contemporary schooling systems while developing alternatives to current practices that result in systemic change. To provide concentrated faculty support and mentorship for each student, only a small cohort of seven to ten students are accepted every other year, with admission in the fall of odd-numbered years.

The course of study includes a strong foundation in both qualitative and quantitative research methodologies. Students also choose a set of courses from two of the following areas to focus their studies:

- cultural and linguistic context of schools
- psychological studies in education
- social context of education
- teacher education

In addition, students complete a supervised research apprenticeship in the second year of study and devise a set of cognate courses in consultation with an advisor.

Admission

The program is small—fewer than 10 students are typically admitted every two years. Applications are accepted from early fall through mid-January for admission in odd-numbered years. The next cohort will be admitted for fall 2019. Application details are available online (https://education.uoregon.edu/csse/).

Courses

EDST 111. Education and Social Change. 4 Credits. Students will evaluate historical, philosophical, and social viewpoints related to the purposes and goals of American education. Additionally, students will compare/contrast multiple approaches to address a range of challenges and opportunities in American schools.

EDST 196. Field Studies: [Topic]. 1-2 Credits. Repeatable.

EDST 198. Workshop: [Topic]. 1-2 Credits. Repeatable.

EDST 199. Special Studies: [Topic]. 1-5 Credits. Repeatable. A recent topic is Exploring Educational Studies.

EDST 211. Childhood Studies. 4 Credits. Examines child development from within the context of specific development and ecological theories.
EDST 220. Beginning Applications in Educational Technology. 4 Credits.
Development of skills and exploration of computer applications useful for communicating in an educational setting.

EDST 225. School and Representation in Film. 4 Credits.
Examines popular culture’s influence on schools and teachers along with the various mediating factors such as race, ethnicity, social class, gender, sexuality, religion, and nationality.

EDST 231. Teaching in the 21st Century. 4 Credits.
Exploration of who teachers are and what teachers do in urban, suburban, and rural school settings.

EDST 331. Autobiography of Schooling. 4 Credits.
Through critical autobiographies, case studies, readings and application activities, students examine and reflect on life in classrooms.

EDST 332. Learning, Teaching, and Assessment I. 3 Credits.
Focus on specific school subjects that provide a context for examining the basic assumptions underlying teaching, learning, and assessment. Prereq: EDST 331; coreq: EDST 339.

EDST 333. Learning, Teaching, and Assessment II. 3 Credits.
Focus on specific school subjects that provide a context for examining the basic assumptions underlying teaching, learning, and assessment. Prereq: EDST 332; coreq: EDST 339.

EDST 338. Observation: Learning, Teaching, Assessment I. 1 Credit.
Students focus on listening to children to better understand how they make sense of school subjects. Pre- or coreq: EDST 332.

EDST 339. Observation: Learning, Teaching, Assessment II. 1 Credit.
Focuses on developing skills in observation of learning, teaching, and assessments. Coreq: EDST 333.

EDST 340. Physical Education for Diverse Learners. 3 Credits.
Provides a variety of physical education and fitness activities appropriate for children with diverse abilities.

EDST 341. Health Methods, Social Studies and Language Arts Methods. 3 Credits.
Examines the historical development of the concept of race and its role in legitimizing colonization, genocide, and extreme maldistributions of wealth. Prereq: EDST 340 Coreq: EDST 458

EDST 342. Curriculum Studies I. 4 Credits.
Examines basic assumptions underlying curriculum in specific subject areas.

EDST 343. Curriculum Studies II. 4 Credits.
Examines basic assumptions underlying curriculum development in K-12 schools. Prereq: EDST 342.

EDST 399. Special Studies: [Topic]. 1-5 Credits.
Repeatable. Recent topics include Exploring Educational Studies, IDEA Reading.

EDST 401. Research: [Topic]. 1-18 Credits.
Repeatable.

EDST 402. Supervised College Teaching. 1-6 Credits.
Repeatable.

EDST 403. Internship: [Topic]. 1-18 Credits.

Repeatable. Recent topics include Educational Foundations.

EDST 407. Seminar: [Topic]. 1-5 Credits.
Repeatable. Recent topics include Professional Practices, Education for Minority Students, Reading in the Upper Elementary Grades.

EDST 408. Workshop: [Topic]. 1-6 Credits.
Repeatable.

EDST 409. Practicum: [Topic]. 1-18 Credits.
Repeatable. Topics include Integrated Licensure I, II, III.

EDST 410. Experimental Course: [Topic]. 1-5 Credits.
Repeatable. Topics include Foundations of Education, Science and Health Methods, Social Studies and Language Arts Methods.

EDST 411. Childhood Studies. 3 Credits.
Examines child development from within the context of specific development and ecological theories.

EDST 420. Living in a Stratified Society. 4 Credits.
Examines the stratification of wealth, status, and opportunity for advancement in our society.

EDST 422. Technology Education. 4 Credits.
Examines educational technology, including the theoretical, methodological, practical, and policy issues that influence the field.

EDST 440. Physical Education for Diverse Learners. 3 Credits.
Examines the way sexuality and sexual identity influence the educational experiences and influences the educational achievement of students. Prereq: EDST 420 Coreq: EDST 458

EDST 450. Equal Opportunity: Food and Schools. 3 Credits.
Examines the way poverty structures and mediates educational experiences and influences the educational achievement of students. Prereq: EDST 420 Coreq: EDST 458

EDST 452. Equal Opportunity: Poverty. 3 Credits.
Examines the way poverty structures and mediates educational experiences and influences the educational achievement of students. Prereq: EDST 420 Coreq: EDST 458

EDST 453. Equal Opportunity: Racism. 3 Credits.
Examines the historical development of the concept of race and its role in legitimizing colonization, genocide, and extreme maldistributions of wealth. Prereq: EDST 420 Coreq: EDST 458

EDST 454. Equal Opportunity: Patriarchy. 3 Credits.
Examines the way gender affects educational experiences and influences the educational achievement of students. Prereq: EDST 420

EDST 455. Equal Opportunity: Homophobia. 3 Credits.
Examines the way sexuality and sexual identity influence the educational experiences of students. Prereq: EDST 420 Coreq: EDST 458

EDST 456. Equal Opportunity: Decolonization. 3 Credits.
Examines educational institutions and their continuing part in larger social processes of colonization and cultural genocide. Prereq: EDST 420

EDST 457. Equal Opportunity: Diaspora and Immigration. 3 Credits.
Examines the way educational institutions have responded to human migration generally and to immigrant students specifically. Prereq: EDST 420

EDST 458. Observation: Equal Opportunity I. 1 Credit.
Engages students in the analysis of specific dimensions of educational opportunity in the field. Repeatable twice for a maximum of 3 credits. Prereq: EDST 420; coreq: one from EDST 451, 452, 453, 454, 455, 456, 457.
EDST 463. Foundations of Literacy. 4 Credits.
Introduction to the various theoretical dimensions of reading and writing that form the foundation for understanding and teaching the complex texts children encounter today.

EDST 464. Multicultural Literacy. 4 Credits.
Introduces preservice teachers to literature written from ethnic, linguistic, social, and cultural perspectives and draws connections to broader cultural, social, historical, economic, and political contexts.

EDST 471. Foundations of Algebra Learning. 4 Credits.
Focuses on the principles underlying the teaching and learning of algebra. Sequence with EDST 472.

EDST 472. Foundations of Geometry Learning. 4 Credits.
Focuses on the principles underlying the teaching and learning of geometry. Sequence with EDST 471.
Prereq: EDST 471.

EDST 507. Seminar: [Topic]. 1-5 Credits.
Repeatable. Recent topics include Professional Practices, Education for Minority Students, Reading in the Upper Elementary Grades.

EDST 508. Workshop: [Topic]. 1-6 Credits.
Repeatable.

EDST 510. Experimental Course: [Topic]. 1-5 Credits.
Repeatable. Topics include Foundations of Education, Science and Health Methods, Social Studies and Language Arts Methods.

EDST 550. Equal Opportunity: Food and Schools. 3 Credits.
This course focuses on a topic that has typically been omitted from education courses and programs: food. Through this course, we will be thinking about the ways that food intersects with schools, and the implications of this for formal and informal educators.
Optional Coreq: EDST 558

EDST 552. Equal Opportunity: Poverty. 3 Credits.
Examines the way poverty structures and mediates educational experiences and influences the educational achievement of students.
